

Patron Comment on Library Material

Thank you for your interest in the Library's materials collection; all concerns are taken seriously and your input is valued. The Library serves a widely diverse clientele with varying demands and needs for information, pleasure reading, historical documentation and educational pursuits. In selecting materials to meet the needs of this community the Library staff is guided by the Collection Development policy. The Rosenberg Library's Board of Directors and staff support the concept of intellectual freedom and believe in the individual's right to read and in access to library resources for persons of all ages. These are fundamental rights of a democratic society. This means the Library will resist efforts to remove or censor "objectionable" materials or authors. If you would like to review copies of the Collection Development Policy, the Freedom to Read Statement, the Free Access to Libraries for Minors, or the Library Bill of Rights, please ask a librarian.
